

Eusphere Business Solutions SA

The reliable partner for financial and insurance IT

Eusphere Business Solutions SA was created in 2000 to provide computer expertise in the development of client/server systems for the financial and insurance industry in the field of e-business and the distribution of commissions. Today, expert staff and proven collaborations with qualified partners guarantee rapid, personalised solutions for its clients. Over 20 years' experience, among its own staff, in the development of financial applications, more than 15 years in the management of computer centres and project management, plus over 10 years in the field of insurance and object-oriented technology, all make Eusphere a partner you can trust.

The corporate philosophy at Eusphere – as explained by its owner, Filippo de Fernex – is based above all on technological independence, which allows it to select the optimal solution for a client without obligations; the partnership that is forged with the client and his staff makes it possible to offer the solution that is best adapted to their business requirements. One of the characteristics on which the company prides itself is that it only accepts commissions that fall within its own area of expertise. Hence Eusphere offers its services to banks, insurance companies and small and medium-sized enterprises in the financial sector – in other words, companies that need consultants with a lot of experience in the field of IT. An experience gained over the years from direct involvement in its clients' business projects.

In addition to traditional computer operations such as functional analysis and the development of IT systems, Eusphere offers other services including organisational and IT systems check-ups, project management, business continuity management, disaster recovery plans, and implementation of complex communication networks. For project management the Lugano-based company uses state-of-the-art technologies and tools that enable it to achieve the planned objectives rapidly, on time and on budget.

Since its foundation, Eusphere has been a leading player in the functional study of the banking and insurance industry, through the implementation of software solutions, including systems for commission distribution, factoring and bank insurance.

As well as developing cutting-edge software and applications, Eusphere has developed considerable experience in preparing and conducting computer auditing, applying ISACA (Information System and Control Association) methodology. Preparation involves internal staff training and preparation of the documentation to be submitted during the audit.

Eusphere provides all the experience needed to plan, install and maintain a company's hardware, firewalls, switches and servers, thereby allowing businesses to become productive immediately.

It will also help companies through the start-up phase by providing all the necessary support to get them up and running on time and on budget.

To enable its clients to optimise both their financial and staffing resources, Eusphere also offers a certified computer room which allows them to take full advantage of the world of cloud computing.
